pencil, paper, books ~~etc~~ except library books, knives, matches, fountain pens, watches, rope, magnifying glasses, tools, and
pairs of scissors except Red Cross ones,
Bibles and prayer books.

In every room a room commander is appointed who is responsible for the cleaning and neatness of the room.
He has to inform the men in his room with the orders received.

The room commanders must do their utmost to prevent fires.

Each barrack has a barrack commander.

At Rollcall the barrack commanders report the total number of men on parade, the sick men, men at work, etc.

The barrack commanders pass on the orders they receive to the room commanders.

The barrack commanders arrange the cleaning of the barrack,
toilets, etc.

The barrack commanders are the links between the camp commanders and the individual men.

Nobody is allowed to enter the kitchen (this order is very strictly enforced by the Japs.)

Not allowed to take mugs outside the dining room.

"special" ~~etc~~ permission of doctor) to eat outside the dining room (except with except during meals nobody is allowed in the dining room (strictly enforced by Japs.)

Tailor and shoemaker.

after permission of the Jap. is received shoes and clothes of p.w. may be repaired by the camp shoemaker and tailor.

Saluting.

Every Jap must be saluted. For Jap. officers a man who walks must stop and salute. When a Jap. officer, a N.C.O. ^{or a private} of the camp staff, the corporal guard commander enters a barrack or the dining room or approaches a group of p.w.s the men who see ^{the} mentioned Jap first must shout KEIREI whereupon everybody salutes. Afterwards ~~then~~ NOUREI and JASMEI are shouted. Outside the barrack everybody must wear a cap.

Clothes, blankets and other possessions of the men must always be piled neatly on the places appointed for these articles.

During day time the mosquito netts must be folded and put in a corner of the room.

Shoes must be put outside the rooms, noses inside! It is not allowed to have any clothes, etc in parcels in the rooms.

The rucksacks and articles not in use of each p.w. are put in storage.

after the second warning (siren — — — — —) nobody is allowed outside the barracks moreover nobody is allowed to look ~~out~~ through windows, doors, etc. When during an air raid roll call is ordered nobody may stay ~~in~~ the barracks. Sick men go to the hospital.

In the camp shop all sales are cash. The Camp commander is manager of the shop. All articles are as much as possible distributed equally over all men. The shop is open after dinner and for the afternoon and evening shift after their homecoming.

Money in the possession of a pow. over and above
the amounts mentioned below must be kept in a bank account in the Japs. office. (3)

Officers	20	YEN
NCO	10	"
NCO + privates	5	"

No smoking allowed in the rooms and outside the barracks.
Smoking only allowed in the direct neighbourhood
of an ashtray filled with water.

before Taps and before the shifts are leaving
for the mine.

Do not take money, valuable articles or cigarettes
and matches (you are not allowed to have matches anyway)
to the mine.

Nobody is allowed to enter somebody's ~~else~~ room.

"Lights out" means only "no smoking allowed anymore" and "Keep your mouth shut" because the lights in the rooms and barracks must be kept burning all night.

Meals

All meals must be consumed in the dining room.
Everybody has a fixed place at a table (not necessarily the same table for the three meals) while all men of a table are responsible for the ration placed on that table (one man of each table is allowed to enter the dining room a few minutes before each meal to check the total of the portions on the table) In case one or more rations are stolen from a table, ^{which the kitchen has to supply} the man at that table will have to return to the kitchen these substituted portions during the next meals.
When the tables are laid nobody is allowed in the dining room.
Nobody is allowed to enter the kitchen. (This rule is strictly enforced by the Japs)
