BASIC

OUTLINE PLAN

FOR

"BLACKLIST" OPERATIONS

8 August 1945

1. The attached basic outline plan covers operations to occupy JAPAN Proper and KOREA after surrender or collapse of the Japanese Government and Imperial High Command.
2. Pending issue of over-all directives by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, this Plan is circulated to Senior Commanders and Staff Sections of the United States Army Forces, Pacific as a guide in their planning and preparation for prompt action upon termination of organized resistance in the areas to be occupied. Plans and preparations for this eventuality will be developed and maintained in an advanced state of readiness by higher echelons of this Command as a matter of urgent priority.
3. The Plan is being forwarded to the Commander-in-Chief, United States Pacific Fleet and the Commander, United States Army Strategic Air Force for their information.
4. Directives for the several operations to be conducted and indicated studies in support of the Plan will be issued by this Headquarters at appropriate times. The Plan itself will be amended in detail from time to time as conditions alter.
5. Every precaution will be observed to prevent such planning and preparation from becoming a basis for unfounded rumors of impending termination of the war. These activities represent preparation for an eventuality which might occur at any time, and while of highest priority, in no way reflect a belief in imminence of a cessation of hostilities.

For the Commander-in-Chief:

R. J. MARSHALL,
Major General, U. S. Army,
Deputy Chief of Staff.

OFFICIAL:

S. J. CHAMBERLIN,
Major General, G.S.C.,
Asst. Chief of Staff, G-3.

BASIC OUTLINE PLAN
FOR
"BLACKLIST" OPERATIONS
TO OCCUPY
JAPAN PROPER AND KOREA
AFTER SURRENDER OR COLLAPSE

8 August 1945

1. DIRECTIVE.

a. This Plan is formulated pursuant to directives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff contained in radiograms WX-17064/14 June 1945, and to verbal directive of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific, 22 June 1945. It covers operations of United States Army and attached forces under CINCAFPAC control, subsequent to sudden collapse or surrender of the Japanese Government and High Command, to occupy JAPAN Proper and KOREA, establish control of armed forces and civil population, and impose thereon those prescribed terms of surrender requiring immediate military action.

The Plan provides for inclusion of the remaining RYUKYUS among CINCAFPAC's areas of responsibility, and regards them as minor off-shore islands of JAPAN Proper, to be occupied when means become available.

Provisions for extended occupation of the several areas and imposition of ultimate surrender terms therein will be covered in subsequent plans upon receipt of necessary directives.

CINCPAC's corresponding plan for conduct of the Naval and Amphibious operations involved in occupation of JAPAN Proper and KOREA is entitled "CAMPUS".

b. Assigned Responsibilities.

- (1) CINCAFPAC is charged by the Joint Chiefs of Staff with the following basic responsibilities:

~~TOP SECRET~~

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (a) Making plans and preparations for the campaign in JAPAN. He cooperates with the Commander-in-Chief, United States Pacific Fleet in the plans and preparations for the naval and amphibious phases of the invasion of JAPAN (WX-62774, 3 April 1945).
 - (b) Preparation of plans for occupation of JAPAN Proper (WX-17064/14 June 1945).
 - (c) Command of United States Army Occupation Forces in JAPAN (WX-62773/3 April 1945).
 - (d) Military Government in JAPAN to include the four main islands, adjacent off-shore islands, KARAFUTO and TSUSHIMA ISLAND (W-79828/9 May 1945).
 - (e) Control of U.S.-held positions in the RYUKYUS, including Military Government (V 73 BG 152/18 July and COMINCH/CNO 211820 July).
 - (f) Preparation of plans for occupation of KOREA in which Allied Forces will participate.
- (2) CINCPAC is charged by the Joint Chiefs of Staff with:
- (a) Making plans and preparations for the naval and amphibious phases of the invasion of JAPAN. He cooperates with the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific, on the plans and preparations for the campaign in JAPAN (WX-62774/3 April 1945).
 - (b) Responsibility for Military Government in the MARIANAS, BONINS, VOLCANOES, IZUS, KURILES and MARCUS ISLAND (JCS 1231).

~~TOP SECRET~~

c. Tentative terms of surrender for JAPAN require in substance (JCS 1275):

- (1) Cessation of hostilities and prompt disarmament of Japanese forces and people wherever located.
- (2) Relinquishment of all power by the Japanese Government to the designated military commander.
- (3) Continuation of maintenance of law and order by constituted Japanese officials and police.
- (4) Relinquishment of war-making materials and installations and evacuation of personnel from Japanese-occupied territories as directed by the designated Military Commander.

d. Although CINCPAC plans are drawn with the primary missions of occupying JAPAN Proper and KOREA and a collateral mission of completing occupation of RYUKYUS when means become available, preparation for execution of these missions recognizes that the Joint Chiefs of Staff may direct CINCPAC to assume similar responsibilities with regard to additional areas in the Western Pacific.

2. ASSUMPTIONS.

a. Hostile.

- (1) That the Japanese Government and Imperial High Command may surrender at any time.
- (2) That surrender of Japanese Commanders in occupied areas outside JAPAN Proper may have to be imposed by force.
- (3) That in event the Japanese Government and High Command in KOREA fail to conform to surrender in JAPAN Proper, appropriate offensive measures will be taken without diversion of means allocated to occupation of JAPAN Proper.

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (4) That there is reasonable probability of active post-surrender resistance of considerable proportions within JAPAN Proper, particularly by suicidal elements of the armed forces who will take advantage of any weakness on the part of our forces.

- (5) That total Japanese forces to be disarmed will probably amount to:	JAPAN Proper	KOREA

Army Ground Combat and Service	1,060,000	233,000
Air Combat and Service (Army & Navy)	425,000	27,000
Naval Crews and Personnel of Shore Establishments	242,000	10,000
	1,727,000	270,000
		1,727,000
Total		1,997,000

- (6) That Civilian Volunteer Defense Units requiring disarmament

may total:	JAPAN Proper	KOREA
TOKYO PLAIN	1,000,000
KOBE-KYOTO-OSAKA	700,000
NAGOYA	375,000
North HONSHU	60,000
SHIKOKU	150,000
KYUSHU	675,000
Other Areas	250,000
	3,210,000	35,000
		3,210,000
Total		3,245,000

That armament of these units will be incomplete and confined to light weapons.

- (7) That, while at best the civil population of JAPAN Proper will observe an attitude of non-cooperation with our forces, some degree of cooperation may be expected from the civil population of KOREA.
- (8) That stocks and production of foodstuffs within JAPAN Proper and KOREA as a whole will, in general, remain adequate to maintain a minimum subsistence level for the population. That, initially, assistance in distribution of foodstuffs, and some reinforcement of supplies to major urban areas, will be required to prevent starvation and epidemic.

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (9) That road and rail communications in JAPAN Proper will be sufficiently disrupted by air operations to require widespread rehabilitation of critical facilities prior to resumption of essential transportation of foodstuffs and to large-scale movement of our Occupation Forces into inland areas.
- (10) That allocation of ship tonnage will be required during the early post-surrender period for transportation of materials for shelter for considerable elements of urban populations in JAPAN Proper to prevent epidemic and active unrest during the winter season. That such action will be required in KOREA to a lesser degree.

b. Own Forces.

- (1) (a) That participation by Allied Forces in the occupation of KOREA will be covered in subsequent directives by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.
- (b) That Allied Forces which may participate in occupation of JAPAN Proper will constitute a component of AFPAC Forces.
- (2) That the area of CINCAFPAC control in the RYUKYUS will be extended to include unoccupied portions of that Archipelago.
- (3) That the Commanding General, United States Army Strategic Air Force will support the operations to occupy JAPAN Proper and KOREA, subject to such other commitments as may be directed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the time.
- (4) That, subject to further instructions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, prompt occupation of JAPAN Proper constitutes a first charge upon resources available to CINCAFPAC, CINCPAC and CG USASTAF. Concurrent occupation of KOREA constitutes a charge second only to JAPAN Proper in allocation of such resources.
- (5) That CINCAFPAC will be charged by the Joint Chiefs of Staff with imposition of surrender terms upon all Japanese located within his areas of assigned responsibility.

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (6) That CINCAFPAC will be designated to coordinate and enforce upon the Central Japanese Government and Imperial High Command the demands upon those bodies of Commanders designated to occupy areas outside JAPAN Proper.
- (7) That commitments necessary for prompt and effective occupation of JAPAN Proper and KOREA will take priority over any further commitments on the mainland of ASIA or FORMOSA.
- (8) That military necessity will require prompt and widespread physical occupation of JAPAN Proper in order to effectively accomplish disarmament and bring home the fact of surrender to the Japanese people.
- (9) That occupation in KOREA may be confined to major centers providing control of the Japanese Governmental and Military Organizations, and the communications of more populous areas.
- (10) That uncertainties of the internal situation in JAPAN will necessitate mounting out of initial Occupation Forces prepared for landings against local opposition.
- (11) That repatriation of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and their auxiliaries into JAPAN Proper from whatever source will be subject to prior approval by CINCAFPAC.
- (12) That redeployment will continue until the full requirements of these operations and any further operation which may be directed into the mainland of ASIA and FORMOSA are satisfied.
- (13) That one Marine Corps of three Divisions will be immediately available to CINCAFPAC for occupation purposes.

3. OPERATIONS.

a. Concept. (See Chart, Annex 3 a, General Concept of Operations).

This Plan covers the "Occupation Period" only. During this period, control of JAPAN Proper and of KOREA is established by progressive occupation, initially utilizing forces available to CINCPAC and CINCAFPAC at the time of surrender or collapse. JAPAN is disarmed and provisions made for early turn-over to separate "Post-War" Governments and Armies of Occupation in JAPAN Proper and KOREA.

~~TOP SECRET~~

The preparation and conduct of the operations are decentralized to designated Army Commanders and their corresponding Naval Task Force Commanders to the greatest extent consistent with essential coordination by Superior Headquarters.

For planning purposes, it is visualized that dispatch of AFPAC Forces immediately available, to JAPAN and KOREA, is in strength to occupy selected major strategic centers against local opposition if offered. These forces are mounted with the maximum expedition permitted by availability of sea and air transport and are provided with appropriate naval support. Strong air and mobile ground forces, provided with immediately available naval support and amphibious transportation, are established at these points in order to isolate JAPAN from ASIA, seize control of higher echelons of government in both JAPAN Proper and KOREA, immobilize enemy armed forces, and initiate operations against any recalcitrant elements in the two countries. These strategic centers remain occupied in strength and serve as bases from which air and ground action can be brought to bear wherever required and from which subsequent occupations are conducted as rapidly as the availability of forces, transportation and the internal situation permits.

Follow-up forces are rapidly dispatched to initial objectives by all available transportation means as arranged by the respective Army Commanders.

Additional areas are occupied in two priorities as follows:

Selected strategic points to establish control of remaining major industrial and political centers and avenues of sea communications.

Selected minor areas to establish control of food supply and of principal overland and coastwise communications.

Objectives selected for occupation in the three priorities or phases outlined in preceding paragraphs are:

~~TOP SECRET~~

PHASE I - KANTO PLAIN, SASEBO-NAGASAKI, KOBE-OSAKA-KYOTO, KEIJO (KOREA), AOMORI-OMINATO.

PHASE II - JAPAN: SHIMONOSEKI-FUKUOKA, NAGOYA, SAPPORO (HOKKAIDO).
KOREA: FUSAN.

PHASE III - JAPAN: HIROSHIMA-KURE, KOCHI (SHIKOKU), OKAYAMA, TSURUGA, OTOMARI, SENDAI, NIIGATA.
KOREA: GUNSAN-ZENSHU.

(Reference Map: Eastern Asia, 1/1,000,000, Army Map Service, Revised (AMS 3) 1944. Japanese place names used).

Additional points in PHASES II and III are occupied within means available as deemed necessary by Army Commanders in accomplishment of their missions.

The directed occupations permit control of the political, economic and military life of the two countries. The areas designated in JAPAN include 60 percent of the population, 80 percent of industrial capacity and 48 percent of food production. Those in KOREA include 39 percent of the population, 18 percent of the industrial capacity and 44 percent of the food production.

Occupations in addition to those outlined above which may be required by national policy or Japanese attitude are directed by CINCAFPAC as dictated by the situation existent at the time.

Disarmament of Japanese Armed Forces and establishment of control of communications are primary initial missions of the Occupation Forces.

The United States Pacific Fleet conducts the naval and amphibious phases of the operations.

The Plan as drawn initially visualizes surrender prior to "OLYMPIC".
In event surrender or collapse occurs after initiation of "OLYMPIC", occupation of unoccupied objectives listed above proceeds as outlined, leaving minimum garrison in the "OLYMPIC" and any minor occupied areas.

Relative timing of the operations is dependent upon the shipping position at initiation date. Consequently, preliminary estimates of timing are made as planning guides and indications of relative priority for shipping allocations only. Forces are dispatched in shipping and air lift allocated for movement of forces of the respective Armies as rapidly as they can be mounted. Occupation of selected objectives may be initiated by employment of airborne forces.

Occupations subsequent to PHASE I are conducted by Army Commanders as rapidly as the situation and availability of forces permit. Amphibious lift is made available in each Army area for this purpose.

The initiation date for the operation ("B"-Day) is designated by CINCPAC pursuant to instructions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and will probably precede "VJ-Day".

Occupation of PHASE I objectives utilizes in general the forces earmarked for "OLYMPIC", plus some elements from "CORONET". Subsequent occupations utilize PHASE I forces, augmented by "CORONET" forces as the situation may demand. PHASE I forces are regarded as firm allocations for commitment as rapidly as practicable. PHASE II forces are allocated to Army Commanders for planning purposes and are subject to release by CINCPAC as required. An AFPAC Reserve is retained for disposition as necessary. Major units as received on redeployment are considered as AFPAC Reserve.

Allocations of forces are frequently amended to incorporate changes in availability incident to "OLYMPIC" and "CORONET".

In event further operations on the mainland of ASIA or FORMOSA are directed, they are initiated subsequent to occupation of PHASE I objectives and establishment therein of adequate protective air and naval elements.

1. General.

This Annex contains certain assumed terms of surrender relating to military matters which require immediate post-surrender action by Occupation Forces. These terms follow drafts submitted to the Joint Chiefs of Staff 15 February 1945 by the State-War-Navy Coordinating Committee and which, insofar as is known, remain in a tentative status. Minor amendments to these drafts have been made to conform to the command structure subsequently established in the Pacific by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It may not be assumed that this Annex represents the final form of the included documents in event formal surrender occurs. It may be anticipated that terms imposed upon the Japanese will conform in principal thereto.

Political, economic, financial and military government matters will be subsequently covered as necessary basic policies are determined.

2. Application of Surrender Terms.

Operation "BLACKLIST" may be put into effect either as a result of formal surrender of the Imperial Japanese Government or High Command or alternatively, on the decision of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific for areas in which hostile armed forces have either capitulated or been overpowered.

a. In event of formal surrender the Instrument of Surrender will be most general in nature and cover only the essentials of surrender. It will be necessary to issue further detailed orders and instructions to the Japanese authorities regarding numerous matters upon which they will be required to take action immediately after they have signed the Instrument of Surrender. These instructions take the form of Proclamations, General and Special Orders by the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.

b. In event of there being no formal surrender, or that local surrenders or capitulations occur prior to formal surrender, the objectives outlined in the "BLACKLIST" Plan are accomplished as rapidly as the situation permits. In this case, Orders and Instructions by the various echelons of command conform to the following policies:

- (1) Orders are clearly and expressly limited to immediate military objectives.
- (2) No commitments of any kind are made by United States or attached forces.
- (3) Orders are expressly subject to any general Instrument of Surrender which may be later imposed.
- (4) All orders are given some title which emphasizes their purely local character.

Within these limits the orders issued by Army or subordinate Commanders are based upon drafts contained in this Annex, omitting such parts as are obviously inapplicable.

c. Sanctions and reprisals which may be used in enforcement of terms of surrender are outlined in Appendix 4, hereto, Enforcement of Surrender Terms.

3. Summary of Surrender Terms.

a. Instruments of Surrender.

The basic Instrument of surrender and accompanying Imperial Rescripts will in all probability consist of acknowledgement by the Emperor of JAPAN and the Japanese Imperial High Command of the total defeat of the Japanese armed forces and the unconditional surrender of the Japanese armed forces and people. The Emperor of JAPAN and the Japanese Imperial High Command undertake to cause all Japanese armed forces wherever situated, and the Japanese people, to cease hostilities forthwith and to comply with all requirements imposed by the Commanders of the United Nations forces occupying the various areas concerned. All Japanese civil and military officials are directed to obey and enforce such requirements, and to remain at their posts and continue to perform their duties until relieved by the Commander of the Occupying Forces concerned.

b. Orders and Proclamations

- (1) An initial proclamation by the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific to the people of JAPAN Proper, the RYUKYUS, KOREA (and other areas of AFPAC responsibility as assigned) will cover the following points:
- (a) The fact that the Emperor of JAPAN and the Japanese Imperial High Command have acknowledged the defeat of all Japanese armed forces on land, sea and in the air and have surrendered unconditionally.
 - (b) That the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific assumes supreme legislative, executive and judicial power and authority within KOREA, JAPAN Proper to include adjacent off-shore islands, KARAFUTO and TSUSHIMA ISLAND, the RYUKYUS (and other areas of responsibility as assigned).
 - (c) That all civil and military officials in the above areas shall remain at their posts until further notice and continue to perform, under his authority, their normal official functions.
 - (d) That all Japanese officials, other Japanese, and persons of other nationalities resident in occupied territories shall comply with all proclamations, orders or other instructions issued or to be issued under authority of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.
 - (e) That all civil police shall continue their normal function and will be held personally responsible for the maintenance of law and order in their respective districts. That they shall not, however, interfere in any way with the personnel of the Occupying Forces. That all employees of public utilities and services shall remain at their posts and continue to perform their duties unless otherwise directed by authority of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.

- (f) That the peoples of occupied territories are directed to carry on their usual occupations and peaceful pursuits subject to such controls as may be imposed by authority of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.
 - (g) That both authorities and people are directed to abstain from all acts detrimental to the interests of the nations at war with JAPAN, the maintenance of public order and orderly administration, and to the security and welfare of the Occupying Forces and the agencies of the nations at war with JAPAN.
 - (h) That any organization or individual failing to render full cooperation with the Occupying Forces, or failing to comply fully with any proclamations, orders or other instructions that may be issued as above provided, will be promptly and severely punished.
 - (i) That Commanders of Armies of the United States assigned territorial jurisdiction by the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific, have power to issue Orders, Proclamations and Instructions by authority of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific, covering the above matters, and shall have power to delegate such authority to their subordinates as they may deem appropriate.
- (2) A General Order covering implementation of the surrender of military and naval forces will include the following provisions relating to Japanese forces wherever located.

In implementation of these provisions by Japanese Forces located outside areas of AFPAC responsibility, it is assumed that the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific will be designated to coordinate and to enforce upon the Japanese Imperial High Command insofar as its own action is concerned, the demands of the various Allied Commanders concerned.

- (a) That the Japanese Imperial High Command shall retain all forces in their current positions, pending instructions from the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.

Pending further instructions, the civil police will be exempt from these provisions. They shall remain at their posts and shall be held responsible for maintenance of law and order in districts where located. The strength and arms of such police forces will be prescribed by Commanders of the respective Occupying Forces.
- (c) That the Japanese Imperial High Command shall, within 48 hours of the time of receipt of the order, furnish the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific complete information as follows:

ANNEX 5b

"BLACKLIST"

ENFORCEMENT
SURRENDER TERMS

1. GENERAL.

a. It is probable that there will be resistance in some form or another to the terms of surrender and to the orders, ordinances and bans given by or on behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. Under these circumstances, it may be necessary to impose certain sanctions or to employ reprisals. These are imposed in accordance with the provisions of FM 27-10, Rules of Land Warfare.

b. Definitions.

(1) Sanctions.

The Instrument of Surrender will provide for an immediate cessation of hostilities and for compliance on the part of the enemy with the regulations, orders, bans and ordinances promulgated by or on behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. The measures which may be taken to enforce these terms are properly described as sanctions. They include:

- (a) The judicial and disciplinary measures vested in the commander of an occupying force in time of war by international law. Such measures are employed to discipline individuals in unorganized evasion of the terms of surrender and/or disobedience to the orders, ordinances and bans published by or on behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. The application of these means is normally a function of Military Government officials. (See Basic Plan for Institution of Military Government, "BLACKLIST" Operations).

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (b) Such exceptional military measures as may be necessary in the event of continuous and widespread evasion of the surrender terms and/or disobedience to such further orders, ordinances and bans as may be published by or on behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. These measures are employed to punish small groups (military or civilian) of independently organized evaders of the surrender terms and violators of the orders, ordinances and bans promulgated by or on behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. Application of these measures should be given wide publicity as a deterrent to other potential offenders. Such sanctions are not to be confused with standard military measures employed in the large scale reduction of an organized hostile military force.

(2). Reprisals.

Should no surrender take place or organized resistance be continued by elements of the Japanese armed forces or by civilians, the Occupying Forces may be compelled to enforce compliance with the rules of war on the part of such military personnel or civilians. Acts done for this purpose are properly termed reprisals; they are normally illegal and may only be resorted to in the event of the commission by the enemy of illegal acts of warfare.

2. AUTHORITY TO ORDER USE OF SANCTIONS AND REPRISALS.

Except as limited herein and by paragraphs 3c(1) and (2) and 3c(1), below, Army Commanders, respectively, within their assigned areas of responsibility, have authority to order the use of sanctions and reprisals as appropriate, subject to such limitations as may be subsequently imposed by Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific. They may delegate their authority in this matter within prescribed limits to insure the timely application of such measures. Neither reprisals nor sanctions, apart from judicial or disciplinary measures, may be employed except as a last resort when all other efforts to enforce the terms of surrender or compliance with the Laws of War have failed. In no case are reprisals taken against prisoners of war.

~~TOP SECRET~~

3. EMPLOYMENT OF GROUP SANCTIONS AND REPRISALS.

a. Forced Evacuation of Communities.

In cases of recurrent sniping or similar action against the security of the forces of occupation, of such character that specific offenders cannot be identified and organized community participation of some sort is apparently involved, evacuation of all or part of the city, town or village in which the hostile action ~~occurred~~ may be enforced as deemed necessary to make such action effective.

b. Destruction of Communities.

If the measures described in subparagraph a, above, prove ineffective or should their implementation involve a disproportionate danger to the forces of occupation, the destruction of all or part of a city, town or village may be resorted to either by bombing, or by artillery fire, or by burning. An operation of this type should not be resorted to unless sufficient notice has first been given to the inhabitants to permit their prompt evacuation of the area. The use of bombing is discussed in paragraph c, below.

c. Bombing.

Conditions may arise where serious or widespread hostile acts are being committed by hostile elements. Under such circumstances, bombing or other forms of air action may be employed as a military measure, subject to the following conditions:

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (1) The decision to resort to air action rests with the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific.
- (2) If, in the opinion of an Army Commander, security of elements of the Occupation Forces requires such action (within the capacity of the Air Forces within his area) in such haste as to preclude reference to Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces Pacific, he directs such action and air elements involved comply. Full reports of this action are made to Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific, and Commanding General, FAR EAST AIR FORCES, respectively, by the most expeditious means. The Army Commander does not subdelegate such responsibility for air action.
- (3) The following principles govern the use of air action within the capacity of the occupying air forces:
 - (a) Immediate application of the attack as soon as the requirement arises.
 - (b) The continuation of the attack at high intensity until the object has been achieved.
 - (c) Disregard of danger to civilian property which may be incidental to air action against a military target in the vicinity.
 - (d) Extensive publicity on air action which has been taken, as a deterrent to other offenders.
 - (e) Confinement of air action to the area in which hostile acts are being committed.

d. Destruction of Private Property.

Private property which has been illegally used for sniping or other hostile action may be destroyed if such action is considered necessary for the security of the Occupation Forces or as a deterrent to the enemy.

e. Hostages.

- (1) Hostages may be taken as a further means of enforcing group or community obedience to terms of surrender or compliance with the Laws of War. The taking of hostages is in no case resorted to without the authority of the Army Commander concerned. Such authority is not subdelegated. The execution of hostages is not regarded with favor and requires the specific authority of the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Army Forces, Pacific, in each case.
- (2) One of the applications of the use of hostages after initial occupation of the area is to force them to accompany military parties into buildings or areas which, after being cleared or inspected, are suspected of having been subsequently illegally mined or booby-trapped; or to compel them to ride on trains or other forms of transportation liable to be damaged by illegal acts of sabotage in occupied territory.
- (3) In the event authority for taking hostages is granted, they are selected in an equitable manner and notification of such selection given to the community. This notification contains an announcement as to the proposed use of the hostages involved, and a statement that the consequences of any illegal acts will fall upon such hostages.

ANNEX 5 c
"BLACKLIST"

BASIC PLAN FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF CONTROL OF THE ARMED FORCES AND MILITARY RESOURCES OF THE ENEMY

1. OBJECTIVES.

a. Establishment of control of the armed forces and military resources of the enemy constitutes a first charge on the resources of Army Commanders within their assigned areas of responsibility in order that:

- (1) Continuation of hostilities by organized elements of the armed forces of JAPAN is prevented and their renewal rendered impossible.
- (2) The Occupying Forces, Allied Prisoners of War and Civilian Internees, and the interests of Nations at war with JAPAN, are safeguarded.
- (3) Law and order are maintained and conditions created which facilitate both the establishment of the Post-Hostilities Military Government and Army of Occupation, and the transfer of the responsibilities of Army Commanders thereto.

b. The terms "armed forces of JAPAN" and "Japanese armed forces" as employed herein include all Japanese and Japanese-controlled Army and Naval Forces (in areas of AFPAC responsibility) including their respective Air Forces and auxiliaries, and quasi-military organizations.

2. CONCEPT.

a. The provisions of this annex apply under conditions of surrender or submission of Japanese armed forces with their command and logistic organizations more or less in a functioning condition. Operations to induce surrender or submission on the part of major organized elements of the hostile armed forces constitute a continuation of the war and are conducted on that basis. On the other hand, the disarmament and handling of unorganized masses of stragglers are conducted under normal prisoner of war procedures until demobilization as covered herein, is instituted.

~~TOP SECRET~~

b. Activities to establish control of armed forces which have surrendered or submitted are conducted by Army Commanders in and from the areas occupied in Phases I, II and III, as outlined in the Text of this Plan. Army Commanders take such measures as they may deem necessary to accomplish the objectives enumerated in paragraph (1) above, subject to such instructions and controls as may be from time to time specified by the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific. In so doing, they exercise within their assigned areas of responsibility, the powers and rights vested in the Commander of an Occupying Force in time of war by international law as outlined in FM 27-10, Rules of Land Warfare.

c. In the establishment of control and subsequent demobilization of the Japanese armed forces, the existing Japanese command structure is perpetuated under strict U.S. control for such period as may be convenient to accomplish the objectives of demobilization. The Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific, exercises direct control of Japanese Imperial Headquarters and provides for its abolishment at the earliest practicable date consistent with its employment to facilitate general demobilization. Army Commanders control and dispose of command echelons on the Army Group and comparable level for Japanese armed forces within their respective areas of responsibility. Control and disposition of subordinate headquarters may be sub-delegated by Army Commanders as is appropriate.

d. Army Commanders, in general, require the Japanese to disarm their own forces, segregate and secure equipment and supplies and maintain discipline within their armed forces personnel. They require civil police and guards to safeguard munitions plants and stocks of munitions and raw materials not yet under Armed Forces control. They selectively demobilize armed forces personnel. Upon reversion of armed forces personnel to a civilian status they become the responsibility of the Military Government structure operating under Army control.

ANNEX 5c

"BLACKLIST"

Procedure for Demobilization of Japanese Armed Forces Personnel

1. Mission:

To demobilize completely the Japanese armed forces and their auxiliaries as expeditiously as the situation permits, consistent with having the demobilization take place in an orderly and controlled manner, and with due regard to needs of employing certain elements of the disarmed Japanese forces on reconstruction work, destruction of fortifications, and disposal of enemy war materials and plants in Japanese home islands and possessions and in occupied territories.

Secondary objects of demobilization are:

- a. To prevent evasion of demilitarization.
- b. To convince the Japanese nation of the Allied determination to allow Japan no further recourse to armed force.
- c. To screen military personnel, from a security viewpoint, particularly with a view to arresting war criminals and others ordered to be detained.
- d. To obtain and dispose of Japanese military records as ordered by higher authority.
- e. To avoid an unacceptable strain on the economic system of Japan.

2. Concept:

- a. That repatriation of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries into Honshu, Shikoku and Kyushu from whatever source is controlled by CINCAFPAC.
- b. That conduct of operations to demobilize the Japanese armed forces is decentralized to commanders of Army areas, so far as is practical.
- c. That commanders of Army areas establish concentration areas for control and documentation of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries.

d. That commanders of United States Army areas establish a Depot Area Headquarters in each of the Japanese Depot Division areas. The Depot Area Headquarters is the operating agency for documentation, discharge and transfer of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries.

e. That the Japanese armed forces are speedily moved into or attached to concentration areas to facilitate control and administration. This does not apply to those held in prisoner of war camps and those left in administrative positions to carry out instructions of CINCAFPAC and designated commanders. Personnel other than those held in prisoner of war camps are under control of their own officers working under Allied supervision and are administered through Japanese armed force channels.

f. That lines of communications and transportation disrupted by aerial bombardment and sabotage will have been repaired sufficiently to facilitate movement of Japanese armed forces from concentration areas to home areas.

g. That the demobilization of that portion of the Japanese armed forces available for discharge requires that the discharge be effected with the least possible delay consistent with an orderly return to civil life, in order to obviate the possibility of large scale desertion.

h. That a period of about two months will elapse before the Armies of Occupation can be fully deployed within their respective areas.

3. Responsibility:

a. CINCAFPAC is responsible for:

(1) Preparation of a statistical review of the Japanese armed forces and the collation of information to insure complete and orderly disbandment of the Japanese armed forces.

(2) Initiation of procedure for disposal of non-Japanese

~~TOP SECRET~~

Appendix 6b to ANNEX 5c (Cont'd)

personnel in the Japanese armed forces.

- (3) Repatriation of Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries into Honchu, Shikoku and Kyushu.

b.. Commanding Generals of United States Armies are, within their respective areas, responsible for:

- (1) Establishment of the necessary number of concentration areas to facilitate control, documentation and discharge of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries.
- (2) Establishment of Depot Area Headquarters in each Japanese Depot Division area to administer documentation, discharge and inter-area transfer of Japanese armed forces personnel.
- (3) Expeditious movement of personnel of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries within their Army area to concentration areas.
- (4) Documentation of personnel of all services of the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries, calling upon the CINCPAC and Commanding General FEAF for such advice and assistance as may be required.
- (5) Discharge of all personnel of all services and auxiliaries whose residences are within their Army area, whether they are located within it on cessation of hostilities, or subsequently transferred to it in accordance with the procedure set forth in paragraph 4c below.
- (6) Collection and registration of deserters and stragglers of the Japanese armed forces who have disbanded themselves or been disbanded without authority.
- (7) Disposal of non-Japanese personnel in the Japanese armed forces as directed by CINCAFPAC.
- (8) Submission to CINCAFPAC of nominal and strength returns for personnel of the Japanese armed forces in accordance with the procedure set forth in paragraph 4b below.

c. The Commanding General, AFWESPAC, is responsible for logistical support of demobilization procedure.

4. Procedure:

a. General:

- (1) Administrative Organization for discharge is as indicated in diagram, (Inclosure #1).
- (2) CINCAFPAC announces when demobilization procedures are to begin and from time to time issues broad policy directives on the subject.
- (3) Priority for discharge within general directives from CINCAFPAC is established by commanders of Army areas giving due consideration to:
 - (a) Security.
 - (b) The demands for personnel of the Japanese armed forces to carry out essential labor for the occupying forces.
 - (c) Pressing civilian requirements for skilled and semi-skilled labor for purposes of reconstruction.
- (4) General discharge of personnel is geared to the ability of the area concerned to receive the discharged personnel.
- (5) The fullest possible use is made of Japanese military machinery and personnel working under United States Armed Forces supervision in carrying out every stage of the documentation and discharge procedures.
- (6) Concentration areas are, in general, established on the basis of one or more for each Japanese Depot Division area. Japanese recruiting is accomplished by depot areas and pertinent records.

~~TOP SECRET~~

if not previously destroyed, should be found in the headquarters of each depot area. Fullest use is made of such records as well as military machinery inherent in depot areas to accomplish demobilization.

- (7) Personnel are discharged in the locality of family residence if both it and the area of the last responsible recruiting office are recorded as being in the same Depot area. If they are in different Depot areas, the area of responsibility of the last competent recruiting office governs for the purpose of discharge or inter-area transfer, subject to inter-area agreement.

b. Statistical preparation for Demobilization:

- (1) At the earliest possible moment after cessation of hostilities, Commanding Generals of Army Areas will require that appropriate commanders of Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries within their Area prepare returns, under U. S. Armed Forces direction for all personnel, male or female, awaiting discharge or disposal, whether such personnel be prisoners of war held in Japan, disarmed troops segregated in concentration areas or disarmed troops to be utilized for essential labor for the U. S. Armed Forces and not to be immediately demobilized. All personnel, regardless of category or priority of discharge are documented. Arrangements will be coordinated by CINCPAC for documentation of units and prisoners of war held in areas outside of Japan proper.
- (2) The statistical system comprises:
 - (a) Nominal and strength returns prepared in concentration areas and prisoner of war camps.

- (b) Statistical Analysis, to insure complete demobilization, prepared from the nominal and strength returns by CINCAFPAC.

- (3) The forms to be used for nominal and strength returns and for statistical analysis with a statement of their function and method of their disposal, are listed below:

- (a) Area Control Form #1 (Inclosure #2), a periodical nominal roll to be prepared in quintuplet by each unit and formation. Personnel are listed alphabetically by rank, sex and service on each roll. Distribution: Original and first copy to CINCAFPAC second copy to Depot Area Headquarters, third copy retained at Concentration Area or Prisoner of War camp, fourth copy retained at unit or formation.
- (b) Area Control Form #2 (Inclosure #3), a periodic strength analysis showing Service or Auxiliary organization, broken down into Officers, Officials, Enlisted Men, other ranks, male and female. This form is prepared in triplicate, the original and first copy to accompany Area Control Form #1 to Depot Area Headquarters, the second copy to be retained at Concentration Area or Prisoner of War Camp. This report is consolidated at Depot Area Headquarters and the consolidation forwarded to Army Area Commander.
- (c) Area Control Form #3 (Inclosure #4) a periodical increase and decrease statement showing all changes since last submission, broken down into Officers, Officials, Enlisted Men, other ranks, male and female and the resulting current strength. This return is submitted to Depot Area Headquarters at such intervals as the Depot Area Commander may decide. This form is completed initially by all units and formations, and is submitted to Concentration Area or Prisoner of War Camp Headquarters. These headquarters prepare a consolidation of these forms, supporting this consolidation by the appropriate Area Control Form #4 extracted from the Concentration Area or Prisoner of War Camp files for each increase except those acquired through transfer, and for each decrease. Control form #4 is endorsed to show change of status.

The forms and their consolidation are then forwarded to Depot Area Headquarters, accompanied, if desired, by Area Control Form #2, to show current strength. Depot Area Commanders consolidate Area Control Form #3 and the consolidation is forwarded to the Army Area Commander. A consolidation of Form #3 is prepared by Army Area Headquarters and forwarded to CINCPAC if requested.

- (d) Area Control Form #4 (Inclosure #5), Personal data sheet to be prepared in triplicate for all personnel, male and female. Distribution: Original to Depot Area Headquarters first copy retained at Concentration Area or Prisoner of War Camp, second copy retained with unit or formation. When forwarded to Depot Area Headquarters, these forms are arranged in the same order as the personnel listed on Area Control Form #1.

- (e) Area Control Form #5 (Inclosure #6), a return of Japanese nationals held in Depot Areas by Industrial or Professional Group, location, residence and availability is prepared by Depot Area Headquarters and submitted to Army Area Commander as requested.
- (f) Area Control Form #6 (Inclosure #7), a return of non-Japanese nationals by nationality and service is prepared by Depot Area Headquarters and submitted to Army Area Headquarters as requested by Army Area Commander. A consolidation of forms #6 is forwarded to CINCPAC.
- (g) Preparation of Area Control Forms #1 thru 6 may be decentralized as deemed desirable and additional reports instituted as required.

c. Inter-Area Transfers:

- (1) Depot Area Commanders discharge only personnel whose residence, as indicated by the location of their last competent recruiting officer, is within their own area. Personnel resident in other Depot Areas are transferred there as early as may be practicable.
- (2) The transfer of personnel from one Depot Area to another, both Depot Areas being within the jurisdiction of the Army Area Commander, is effected under the direction of the Army Area Commander.
- (3) The transfer of personnel from a Depot Area within

Commander from whose Area the transfer is being made

- (4) The following documents accompany personnel transferred to other Areas:

(a) Area Control Form #4.

(b) All individual personnel records held in the unit and all military documents normally in the possession of the individual.

(c) A Medical certificate that the individual is free from vermin and infectious and contagious diseases.

d. Disposal of non-Japanese Personnel:

At the earliest possible moment after the rendering of the returns referred to in par. 4c above, non-Japanese nationals serving with the Japanese armed forces and auxiliaries are statistically and, where possible, physically segregated from Japanese in National Groups to await disposal as directed by CINCAFPAC.

e. Stragglers, Deserters, Personnel discharged without authority, Civilians:

- (1) In order to effect the collection and documentation of personnel who have discharged themselves or been discharged without authority, CINCAFPAC, at the appropriate time, publishes a General Order requiring all such personnel to report by a certain date to selected centers to be specified by Army Area Headquarters or by Depot Area Headquarters. This order will include those auxiliary personnel whom it is intended to discharge through the service machinery. It is provided that those reporting will not be subject to disciplinary action for desertion or other stated irregularities, but failure to comply with the order will entail severe penalties.

- (2) Civilians who are not a part of the Japanese armed forces and are not held in custody as Prisoners of War and who are not in uniform but who may have been organized into groups to support the Japanese armed forces or resist invasion, are allowed, after disarmament, to disperse to their homes without being disbanded through service machinery. Those taken into custody in uniform, or held as Prisoners of War, are disbanded as members of the Japanese armed forces.

f. Discharge Procedure:

- (1) Japanese Service troops are retained as long as may be necessary to insure a satisfactory administration of Japanese and non-Japanese personnel awaiting disbandment and to meet such other Japanese military commitments as may be decided upon by U. S. Armed Forces authorities.
- (2) Japanese technical personnel needed to store, catalogue, recondition or destroy Japanese war material are retained until their tasks are completed.
- (3) On receipt of a directive from CINCPAC, discharge of personnel begins.

- (6) Personnel who reside in other Depot Areas, no matter to what discharge category they belong, are transferred to their Area of residence as soon as practicable in accordance with instructions issued under par. 4c above.
- (7) Personnel released for discharge are processed in accordance with the Administrative Provisions for Discharge (Inclosure #8). The place where this is done may be the Prisoner of War Camp, Concentration Area, or such center as the Depot Area Commander may consider it convenient to establish.
- (8) Counter-intelligence staffs, if they so require, are given prior information of proposed discharges in order to enable them to carry out such checks as they deem advisable.
- (9) In order to avoid the spread of infectious diseases, medical examination of all personnel is carried out immediately prior to discharge or transfer to another Depot Area.
- (10) On completion of the Discharge procedure, each individual is given a paper containing notes and instructions for his use at the time of discharge. - (11) The discharge certificate is non-military in character. Part I is completed by the individual to whom it relates, Part II by a Medical Officer, Part III by a U. S. Armed Forces Discharging Officer, who stamps the certificate with a suitable impressed seal.
- (12) Upon discharge, personnel are dispatched, if possible, by rail, road or water transport, to their homes. Troops are not permitted to march home in formed bodies.
- (13) Each man, upon arrival at his destination, is required to produce his discharge certificate in order to obtain his civilian ration card and/or such other documents as he may be required by Military Government to hold.

SECTION I

INTRODUCTION

1. This memorandum contemplates intelligence measures in a transitory situation where Japan agrees to surrender; no absolute demarcation in operational requirements is possible between: a) combat, b) pre-surrender and c) surrender phases. A transient situation permits local provisional measures but the long range effect of further occupations, at a later date, must be considered.

2. This memorandum defines broad intelligence responsibilities though delegation of certain functions is already provided for or contemplated.

3. General intelligence problems will be enormously magnified, in contact with a fanatical population; there are no docile natives, as on New Guinea or a pro-American population, as in the Philippines; every Japanese national is an enemy; all intelligence may become operational intelligence; sabotage and under-ground resistance are doubly menacing because of complicated language and race psychology. All intelligence agencies must face this sinister background and re-orient their general activities; an acute shortage of language personnel requires close coordination of functions in the language field.

4. During the transitory phases, there will be certain general tasks connected with intelligence; the majority of them may be started simultaneously by the appropriate intelligence staffs; they are set out in an estimated order of priority:

a. The immediate seizure of Intelligence Objectives.

b. The arrest and/or Intelligence control as specified by C-in-C AFPAC of:

(i) Persons whose names appear on suspect Lists.

(ii) All General Staff Corps officers (and equivalent Naval and air officers) who have not been taken into custody as prisoners of war. (See Section X).

(iii) Persons in certain specified positions of authority; officials of certain prescribed organizations, viz:

Supreme Military Council

Cabinet Ministers

General Staff (Army & Navy)

Staffs of Military Districts (Army & Navy)

Staffs of Staff College (Army & Navy)

Staffs of Military and Naval Academy (Army & Navy)

Staffs of Training and Depot Establishments (Army & Navy)

Political Assn. of Greater Japan (Dai Nippon Seiji Kai)

* Kempei Tai (Military Police)

* Tokumu Kikan (Army-Navy Secret Intell. Service)

Koku Sui-To (Extreme Nationalist Party)

Chizakura (Nat. Party - Manchuria)

* Kokuryu Kai (Black Dragon Society)

Nissho, and related Extremist or Terrorist Societies

Teikoku Zaigo Gunjin Kai (Imp. Reserve Assn.)

Sotei Dan (Union of Able Bodied Men)

Shonen Dan (Youth Assn.)

Seinen Dan (Young Men's Assn.)

c. The destruction of the Japanese organization (*) for espionage, sabotage and subversive activities.

d. Survey of the organizations of the Japanese Armed Forces to facilitate demobilization and disarmament.

e. Survey of Japanese Military, scientific and technical developments and their application to peace and war.

f. Preservation and scrutiny of documents and archives in order to acquire maximum knowledge of Japanese methods and organization.

g. Organization for the censorship of civil communications Japan.

5. The classification of categories of P.W. or civilian suspects, under Par. 4B (iii) above, emphasizes the joint character of operational intelligence (O.I.) and counter-intelligence (C.I.); the use of joint interrogation and translation centers, civilian internment camps adjacent to PW camps, preparation of standard questionnaires giving guidance on O.I. and C.I. interrogations and the selection of certain P.W. and suspects, for more intensive investigation, etc, suggest themselves as indispensable joint measures. (See Section X)

6. There is an identity of interest between operational intelligence counter-intelligence and public safety (as represented by Military Government, the Provost Marshal, etc.)

It is essential that at all levels there should be complete unanimity on policy and that collaboration in action is continuous. This can be accomplished by the formation of joint committee of representatives of Theater G-2, Army or District G-2, Counter Intelligence, Provost Marshal General and Military Government, to be known as J.C.I.S., (Joint Committee on Intelligence Security).

7. In order to carry out these tasks, it will be necessary for all the Services to reorganize their Intelligence facilities and to make additional Intelligence personnel available. The guiding principle is that, so far as is practicable, continuity in personnel, methods and channels should be observed.

It is anticipated that the operational stage will lead gradually into "Blacklist" condition; in such circumstances it will be necessary for similar Intelligence Plans to be put into effect either partially or wholly during the operational stage in occupied areas, in analogous situations under "Olympic" and "Coronet".

SECTION II

CONDITIONS IN JAPAN AFTER COLLAPSE OR SURRENDER

1. Since the Japanese, as a nation, have not previously experienced an overwhelming defeat terminating in either collapse or unconditional surrender, no precedent is available for guidance; the problem is largely one of Japanese psychology not readily appreciated by the Western mind. Historically, Japanese have surrendered unconditionally to other Japanese; as a nation they have bowed to the demands of Western Powers in situations involving a threat of war; they have at least locally, suffered a high degree of disorganization as result of major disasters. It is not believed, however, that these experiences furnish a sufficient index by which the behavior and reactions of the Japanese population could be accurately measured.

2. Attitude of People and Officials under the conditions assumed in Par. 1 - a, of Basic Plan. The following discussions (*) present aspects of the situation under several conceivable contingencies to gauge the attitude of people and officials, viz:

CASE a. Surrender of the Japanese Government Before Invasion of any of the Home Islands.

The administrative structure would be basically intact and the transfer of authority from the Japanese Emperor and the Japanese Government to the Allied Military Government would be in an orderly manner. Japanese administrative officers would be instructed by their Emperor to remain in office. A number sufficient to carry on essential functions would probably comply. Their efficiency would be low for some time, but that condition would have to be treated with some tolerance because it would be due primarily to factors such as: (1) great mental and emotional confusion over facing a situation without precedent in Japanese experience; (2) conditions arising out of air raid damages, including disruption of the chain of command from a centralized authority, loss of homes and relatives, and lowered physical condition.

The Japanese people would be in immediate need of food and shelter; they are amenable to direction and intrinsically obedient, and probably would comply with Allied orders and try to go about their daily tasks. Their efforts to help themselves would tend to be ineffective for a while, because there would be widespread confusion, both psychological and physical. It would be essential to forestall disorders arising out of dire need for daily necessities.

(*) Dept. of State Extracts.

As a result of extensive bombing and fire damage, Japanese industry would be generally disorganized, transportation disrupted and the distribution of food seriously impaired. In such a situation many business and financial leaders would be willing to cooperate with the occupying forces in bringing some degree of order out of the existing chaos.

Beneath the surface there would soon be maneuvering among Japanese political elements, with various groups struggling to gain sufficient following to come forward in due course to build a new Japanese Government.

CASE b: The Japanese Government Surrenders
After Invasion of One of the Home Islands Other than Honshu.

Under this assumption, conditions would be essentially the same as under case (a), except in the invaded area where confusion arising out of death and injury, lack of food and shelter, and the destruction of public utilities and other facilities would be greater.

CASE c: The Japanese Government Surrenders
After the Invasion of Honshu.

Under this assumption, conditions would be similar to but still more confused than those under case (b). Administrative difficulties would be greater because of the increased degree of disruption to the chain of command from a centralized authority, there would be increased disruption of the Japanese economy, and a greater number of people would be affected by death and injury, lack of food and shelter and the destruction of public utilities and other facilities.

CASE d: The Japanese Home Islands Have Been Invaded and Organized Resistance Therein Has Ceased but the Japanese Government Has Not Surrendered and Has Gone Underground.

Under these circumstances, the occupation authorities would not have the advantage of assistance by the Emperor and the Japanese Government in bringing about a cooperative attitude on the part of the Japanese people and of Japanese administrative officials. It would be fruitless for the occupying forces to set up an interim Japanese Government to assist in this matter as its lack of constitutional authority would deprive it of influence. The factors leading to confusion, inefficiency and disorder would be at maximum strength and would require great efforts on the part of the occupation authorities to prevent chaos. Many administrative officials would refuse to continue in office under the direction of the Military Government. The lack of a mandate from a Japanese Government to stay at work and the probable issuance of orders to sabotage the Allied effort would aggravate the inefficiency and confusion of those continuing in office. This condition, plus almost complete disruption of the chain of command from a centralized authority and maximum disruption of the national economy would greatly increase administrative difficulties.

SECTION III

GENERAL MILITARY ORGANIZATION

1. In connection with determining the intelligence organization of units involved in the occupation of JAPAN, the commander's mission and the characteristics of the population are of paramount importance. As to the former, the specific tasks assigned commanders are given in subpar 3.c. (1)(b), beginning on p 13, "Basic Outline Plan for 'Blacklist' Operations".

2. The general coordination and control of JAPAN are vested in the Commander-in Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific. The areas of initial occupation, taken into our control in 3 Phases, are given in subpar 3.a. on p 8, "Basic Outline Plan". It should be noted that this same subpar indicates that other areas may have to be occupied.

3. Intelligence policy in all its aspects is formulated by General Headquarters. Armies are responsible for the detailed planning of the intelligence organization for their respective areas of occupation. They keep GHQ informed of the progress made in their planning, to ensure that they proceed along similar lines and that no divergencies occur which might create a gap in the overall picture.

4. a. It is evident that much larger intelligence organizations will be needed by occupation units than formerly sufficed in combat.

Suitable personnel will have to be selected from other staff sections and subordinate units.

b. The intelligence organization of a unit in an urban area will differ markedly from that of an identical unit in a rural area. It would therefore be impracticable to draw up uniform T/O&Es for the intelligence organizations of occupation units.

5. As plans are carried to the point where final estimates can be made of the intelligence personnel requirements of units, tentative selections thereof should be made or they may be requested from higher authority where they might be made available as in the case of CIC personnel.

SECTION IV

OPERATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

1. The Operational Intelligence Staffs within Armies will be confronted with a mass of information requiring analysis and evaluation for use by their own Disarmament and Disbandment Staffs. The main role of GHQ, AFPAC will be to supplement this information and produce Intelligence guidance on long-term policy. As usual, the greatest sources of information, collected locally by Armies, will be documents and interrogation reports.

2. The information will be required for various purposes, which can be broadly set out as follows:

- a. Tactical requirements.
- b. Planning requirements.
- c. Checking of information supplied by the Japanese.
- d. Technical Intelligence.
- e. Military Intelligence research.
- f. Air Reconnaissance.

3. TACTICAL REQUIREMENTS: Responsibility for Operational Intelligence in its present form will continue, probably on a diminishing scale. It will still be necessary for Intelligence Staffs to cover all aspects of tactical Intelligence required in establishing control over the Japanese armed Forces and in initiating their disarmament.

4. Intelligence Staffs will need to work in intimate contact with Counter Intelligence Staffs, who follow closely all matters connected with underground movements. They will also be required to follow the political trends in their areas. (See Sec. x)

5. PLANNING REQUIREMENTS: Intelligence Staffs will be required to provide the Intelligence on which the plans for the disarmament and disbandment of the Japanese armed forces are based. Work on this will probably prove the most onerous of Intelligence tasks. In certain areas, where almost all records have been destroyed, it may prove necessary to recreate such records as are required, by the use of interrogation reports.

6. CHECKING OF INFORMATION SUPPLIED BY THE JAPANESE: Japanese commanders will be instructed on surrender to submit immediately information regarding order of battle, locations, strengths, equipment and stocks. It will, however, be essential that such information be subjected to constant checks to prevent any attempts at evasion or concealment. For this reason, Intelligence Staffs continue to maintain their own order of battle and estimates.

7. TECHNICAL INTELLIGENCE: The normal tasks of Technical Intelligence will continue in the occupational period. After the cessation of hostilities, Technical Intelligence will have to search for what technical developments have been made and are being used in secret. In addition, Technical Intelligence will be required to help in certain disarmament problems. (See Sec. XIII)

8. MILITARY INTELLIGENCE RESEARCH: It will be necessary and advisable to initiate enquiries on:

- a. How Japan fought the war in all its army aspects.
- b. The accuracy of our own Intelligence estimates.
- c. The collation of certain long-term Intelligence, such as topography or engineer Intelligence.

9. AIR RECONNAISSANCE: The need for Air Reconnaissance, both visual and photographic, will remain. It will be devoted mainly to checking that Japanese troop concentrations are being carried out as directed; that there is no unwarranted rail activity; and that dumps and installations are not being interfered with. Photographic interpreters will be required to continue their functions in this respect. Consideration should also be given to long-term plans for Air Reconnaissance for survey, topographical and other purposes.

9

SECTION V

THE HANDLING OF CAPTURED ENEMY DOCUMENTS

THE PROBLEM OF DOCUMENTS:

1. In view of the peculiar dependence of the Japanese on the written record, every detail of military life and administration is committed to paper. The vital importance of intelligence obtained from captured Japanese documents has been realized, and directives have been issued on their seizure, exploitation, and processing. In the "BLACKLIST" period, the general principles of the inter-Service handling of documents hitherto in force will continue in accordance with GHQ SWPA SOPI No. 23, dated 8 September 1944, and GHQ AFPAC SOPI No. _____ dated _____ (in preparation).
2. As the occupation of Japan proceeds, documents will become available in greater quantity than ever before; they will be of much wider application than those found in countries previously occupied by the enemy, in that they will be essential in all aspects of Military Government.
3. During the operational phase, the main emphasis is immediate exploitation of documents of operational importance. The problem in any area of Japan in which organized resistance has ceased is of a different character. The continued evacuation of documents will prove impossible because of their great bulk and volume; it will be inadvisable because their removal would hamper the establishment of civil control, the process of disarmament and disbandment, and the tasks of research. It will, therefore, be necessary for Language Detachments to select for evacuation through normal channels to Allied Translator and Interpreter Section, GHQ, only such documents as are of immediate general importance. The remainder will, so far as possible, be left "in place" after arrangements have been made for their safeguarding. Documents which cannot be so left must be carefully collected in central repositories to await final disposition.
4. A great number of agencies will be searching for documents, and it is required that all such agencies register with the Army ATIS Advanced Echelon of the District in which they will be operating. It must be impressed on them that, although they are free to collect what documents they require, permission to take them out of the area must be obtained from the Army ATIS Advanced Echelon concerned, and the removal registered there. There are represented at GHQ AFPAC, many agencies who will require to see documents for action in Japan before they are evacuated.
5. The vast majority of documents will, however, remain "in place". It will therefore be necessary to notify all interested agencies of what is available and where it is to be found. This will be done by each Army ATIS Advanced Echelon preparing and circulating locally, lists of the documents available in their areas. Copies of these lists will be sent to ATIS GHQ, who will disseminate them as required.
6. There will be types of documents which can only be efficiently evaluated in Washington or which require detailed analysis and research. These classes of documents will be sent to ATIS GHQ for action.
7. A more difficult problem arises regarding the selection of documents which as a matter of policy must not be left in Japan. Such as those dealing with the war efforts and organization of the armed forces and the War Diaries and studies of the various campaigns. To leave such documents intact in Japan would give any future Japanese General Staff the groundwork for creating a fresh military machine and the data for an examination of their errors in strategy and tactics in this war. It will be necessary for all such documents to be specially listed and marked as documents that must eventually be evacuated or destroyed.

8. Special efforts will be made to secure all records and plans of the following:

- (i) The central Japanese government, Japanese military organizations, engaged in military research, and such other governmental agencies as may be deemed advisable.
- (ii) All police organizations, including security and political police.
- (iii) Japanese economic organizations and industrial establishments.
- (iv) Institutes and special bureaus established in Japan devoting themselves to race, political, and similar research.
- (v) Documents required by the various echelons of Japanese Government and Armed Forces Command in exercise of their functions under United States Control must remain accessible to the Japanese Authorities concerned.

DOCUMENT PROCEDURE:

9. A brief summary is given below of the policy to be adopted in handling documents:

- (i) All documents seized must be safeguarded.
- (ii) Only documents of immediate general importance will be evacuated. Those required by Japanese Government and Command Agencies operating under United States Control will remain accessible to Japanese Authorities concerned.
- (iii) Evacuation through established military channels ATIS GHQ.
- (iv) No documents will be removed by anybody without the permissions of the local ATIS Advanced Echelon.
- (v) Document so removed must be registered at the local ATIS Advanced Echelon.
- (vi) Location lists of documents will be circulated.
- (vii) The greatest care should be taken when removing documents to remove them in the order in which they are found, and to disarrange them as little as possible. It is especially important that documents dealing with any piece of machinery or equipment, e.g., Radar, should not be separated from the material to which they refer.
- (viii) Documents of purely C.I. interest, may be evacuated through C.I. channels. After exploitation by C.I. they will be passed to ATIS GHQ. C.I. may, if desirable, freeze any document important for Counter Intelligence operations, subject to the authorization of the senior Intelligence Officer at the headquarters concerned.
- (ix) All cryptographic documents will be expeditiously handled as prescribed in GHQ SWFA SOP No. 23, dated 8 September 1944, and GHQ AFAC SOP No. ____, dated ____ (in preparation).

RESPONSIBILITIES OF GHQ AFAC:

- 10. (i) Establishment of ATIS at GHQ AFAC, of Advanced ATIS at ADVON AFAC, and of an ATIS Advanced Echelon at Tokyo.
- (ii) Co-ordination of all matters of inter-Service relationship regarding documents.
- (iii) Direction on the types of documents which must be left "in place" and those which are required for ultimate evacuation from Japan or destruction, as a matter of policy.
- (iv) Arrangement for making available to the Navy of records required by them.
- (v) Liaison with M.I.R.S., War Dept., on documents policy, problems and procedure.
- (vi) Detailed analysis of documents as required.

~~TOP SECRET~~

- (vii) Receiving and complying with requests for information on documents.
- (viii) Supply of copies of documents held at ATIS Advanced Echelons.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ARMIES:

- 11. (i) Arranging for seizure and safeguarding of documents.
- (ii) Detailed planning for the handling of documents throughout their areas of responsibility.
- (iii) Establishment of such ATIS Advanced Echelons as may be required in addition to those Language Detachments and ATIS Advanced Echelons operating with Divisions, Corps, Armies, and Task Forces.
- (iv) Requisitioning for all equipment required in their areas, including microfilm and laboratory apparatus.
- (v) Action on requests for documents held locally, either by producing the original or copies.

TOKYO:

12. From the purely military point of view, the biggest and most important collection of documents should theoretically be found in Tokyo or vicinity. It may therefore be necessary to create an ATIS Advanced Echelon of suitable proportions, with adequate reproduction resources. This ATIS Advanced Echelon should initially be organized on an integrated basis, and will be established by GHQ AFAC under the G-2 Advance Section. GHQ AFAC will arrange for the supply of the necessary equipment.

NAVAL DOCUMENTS:

- 13. Naval documents will be transferred to Naval authority in accordance with arrangements between CINCPAC and CINCPAC. (See Section VII)
- 14. Naval Intelligence is responsible for informing Army and Air Intelligence Staffs of any matters of military or air interest arising from Naval documents.
- 15. Documents of inter-Service interest exploited by Army or Air Staffs will subsequently, if applicable, be passed by them to the Navy.

AIR FORCE DOCUMENTS:

- 16. Air Force documents, including documents concerning the JAF Supply Services and the organization of the Japanese aircraft industry, must be transferred to the nearest Air Force or Air Corps Intelligence Officer. These will be processed through Air Force channels to ATIS.
- 17. As some JAF documents contain information of importance to ground forces, it is the responsibility of Air Intelligence to inform Intelligence Staffs of the contents of such documents and make them available for inspection or reproduction.
- 18. Documents other than Air Force documents which interest Air Intelligence will first be exploited by the Army Intelligence and will then be passed to the nearest Air Intelligence. These documents will be returned after exploitation through normal Army channels.

DIPLOMATIC AND CONSULAR DOCUMENTS:

- 19. Such documents in the custody of the protecting power (neutral) will be respected.
- 20. Documents not in the custody of the protecting power (neutral) will be guarded pending instructions from GHQ AFAC as to their disposal.
- 21. If substantial reason exists for believing diplomatic or consular premises were used for warlike operations, the protecting power (neutral) may be asked for permission to search the premises. If this permission is delayed unreasonably; CINCPAC, will decide whether or not the search is to be initiated.

SECTION VI

INTERROGATION OF PRISONERS OF WAR AND SUSPECTS

POLICY OF INTERROGATION:

1. In the BLACKLIST period, the shift in emphasis from the interrogation needs of Operational Intelligence to those of Counter Intelligence, will become more pronounced. An increase in the number of interrogators, trained in Counter Intelligence methods, if practicable, will therefore be required.

TYPES OF PERSONS TO BE INTERROGATED:

2. (i) Ordinary PW or disarmed Japanese of purely C.I. interest.
- (ii) Ordinary PW or disarmed Japanese with a C.I. background.
- (iii) Civilians, such as members of the Black Dragon or other terrorist societies, who have been arrested on C.I. instructions.
- (iv) Internees in concentration camps.
- (v) Technical, scientific, economic, financial, etc., experts.

ORGANIZATION OF ATIS INTERROGATION CENTERS:

3. ATIS GHQ will continue to operate at present location until such time as Japan is occupied by its permanent garrison. ATIS Language Detachments and CIC detachments, augmented by Japanese-speaking personnel, will normally remain with their organic tactical units. CIC units, however, may be reassigned according to the exigencies of the situation. ATIS units may be reinforced by teams and detachments of Divisions, Corps, and Armies not involved in the occupation. ATIS Interrogation Centers and Language Detachments will be given C.I. training, if practicable, and will be augmented by C.I. personnel so that each unit is capable of conducting both Intelligence and Counter Intelligence Interrogation.

4. Selectees for detailed interrogation will be sent to ATIS or ADVATIS. Special arrangements will normally have to be made, according to circumstances, for the interrogation of Japanese financial, economic, scientific, and other experts.

CIVILIAN INTERNMENT CAMPS:

5. When Japan has been fully occupied, or when Military Administrative Districts are set up in the rear of our advancing forces, internment camps for civilian suspects may be established as required by Army Commanders. The Intelligence control of these camps will be the responsibility of Intelligence staffs, to be allocated for the purpose by Army Commanders. It is desirable that internment camps should be set up in the immediate neighborhood of PW camps, to facilitate interrogation problems. Certain types of PW of C.I. interest may be segregated and held, pending instructions for their final disposal.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF GHQ AFPAC:

6. (i) Preparation of questionnaire giving guidance on O.I. and C.I. interrogation and the selection of suitable PW.
- (ii) The establishment of ATIS Interrogation Centers.
- (iii) The channel through which all requests for Intelligence from interrogation are submitted by U.S. agencies, outside GHQ.
- (iv) The channel through which Intelligence obtained from interrogation is passed back to U.S.
- (v) To co-ordinate when necessary the work of ATIS Interrogation Centers.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ARMIES:

7. (i) Setting up of the necessary interrogation facilities.
- (ii) Provision of interrogators. These men should be drawn from existing Army (Corps) interrogation personnel, and augmented by C.I. personnel.

NAVAL INTERROGATION:

8. Sec Section VII.

AIR INTERROGATION:

9. It is not generally intended that Air representation of AFIS Interrogation Centers established in Japan will consist of more than screening officers. Air Interrogators will be attached or given access to interrogation centers and internment camps, and will be given facilities to interrogate persons anywhere likely to be in possession of information of Air interest.

SECTION VII

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE

1. In general, Naval intelligence activities in JAPAN Proper will be based upon the principles of complete access and full interchange of information between the Army and Navy, and that of prompt transfer of appropriate intelligence material to the Navy.

2. Detailed arrangements between CINCPAC and CINCPAC covering Naval intelligence activities in JAPAN Proper will be disseminated to agencies affected at appropriate times.

SECTION VIII

EXPLOITATION OF AIR INTELLIGENCE OBJECTIVES

1. DEFINITIONS:

For general convenience, captured or surrendered installations, material, documents and persons of particular interest to the Air Force Intelligence organizations are referred to in this document as Intelligence Objectives or Targets.

The first Air Intelligence Objective becomes that of immediate neutralization of all aircraft and airborne weapons, in place, at the moment of surrender -- augmented by the further condition that all air flights of any nature must cease immediately, as of the moment of surrender, until effective control measures are established.

By exploitation of Intelligence Targets is meant the seizure, safeguarding, preliminary interrogation of persons and their subsequent processing; and the recording, preliminary scanning and subsequent processing of documents to the appropriate collating agency.

2. AUTHORITY:

Air intelligence targets to be investigated will include:

- a. Information necessary for the disarmament, demobilization and demilitarisation of the J.A.F. and its associated para-military associations.
- b. Intelligence Targets contributing to the termination of the war against JAPANESE satellites:
- c. Intelligence concerning the extent of JAPANESE-GERMAN interchange of scientific and technical developments.
- d. Intelligence check on the effectiveness of Allied air operations as well as a check on the accuracy and completeness of Air Intelligence estimates.
- e. Technical intelligence for research purposes.

3. ORGANIZATION:

Subject to coordination with AFIPAC, the Air Force will be responsible for:

~~TOP SECRET~~

a. Air Intelligence for disarmament purposes through appropriate channels to AFFAC.

b. Intelligence policy for air disarmament problems.

4. MACHINERY FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT:

During this period, Intelligence Objectives will be exploited by:

a. Normal Air Intelligence gathering agencies now in the field, including Technical Intelligence and Air P/W Interrogation Teams.

b. By Staffs of U.S. Air disarmament formations.

Normal Air Intelligence gathering agencies, following the advancing armies will continue, as at present, to exploit Air Intelligence Objectives. After surrender or collapse of resistance, Air Intelligence agencies and staffs will be made available to disarmament staffs as circumstances require for specialized intelligence investigations.

5. EXPLOITATION OF INTELLIGENCE OBJECTIVES:

Intelligence officers will be attached to field formations of FEAF disarmament formations, when deployed, for the purpose of screening and reporting to higher headquarters. Intelligence staffs will determine by examination of Intelligence Objectives whether air documents should be evacuated or remain in place.

Target lists will be prepared by AFFAC and other Air Force agencies, particularly those concerned with Technical Air Intelligence.

Special operations may be mounted against particular cities or areas in which there are concentrated a large number of Intelligence Objectives. Special Army Detachments ("T Forces") may be organized to seize and guard Intelligence Objectives in these areas. Qualified air personnel, charged with the investigation of all Air Intelligence Objectives within these areas will be attached to teams of specialists and interrogators.

Where air teams are not available for exploitation of Air Intelligence Objectives, by arrangement with Armies, seizure of such objectives will be entrusted to local forces.

6. TECHNICAL INTELLIGENCE:

Although most of the primary Intelligence Objectives will be designated, the normal method of collecting technical Intelligence in the field by specialized Intelligence Officers (TAIU) or teams will continue.

7. INTERROGATION:

Specialized Air Force Interrogators will be attached or have access to all Interrogation Centers, Internment Camps (Military and Civil). In general, it is not intended that Air representation at detailed Interrogation Centers in JAPAN will consist of more than screening officers. (See Section VI)

8. SIGNAL INTELLIGENCE:

This forms the subject of separate inter-Service instruction.

SECTION IX

SEIZURE OF PRIMARY INTELLIGENCE TARGETS

1. a. The War Department and other Washington agencies have studied the JAPANESE internal situation in detail and selected "sources" where it is estimated particularly important intelligence may be found.

~~TOP SECRET~~

b. Such sources of needed intelligence are termed "intelligence targets", and it is evident that they will be particularly concentrated in urban areas. These targets may include any or several of the following:

- (1) Records and documents found in certain army hqs, buildings, ministries, factories, government agencies, etc.
 - (2) Persons of certain categories such as Imperial Headquarters officers; known scientists of a certain research laboratory, etc.
 - (3) Material and equipment, including munitions and materials of all kinds and those found in a certain factory, etc.
 - (4) Industrial plants.
 - (5) Agencies of diverse kinds such as the headquarters of a particular unit or type of unit, ministries, news bureaus, universities.
 - (6) Military or naval establishments or installations.
2. a. Early seizure, securing, and exploitation of such targets are essential according to priorities set by GHQ.
- b. By furnishing Military Police or, in an emergency, even a combat unit, in reserve, unit commanders will often be able to facilitate seizure and provide the temporary guard for a valuable target.
3. The detailed organization for the exploitation of intelligence targets will be the subject of later orders.
4. Certain targets are of primary interest for exploitation by air and naval commands, which will take the appropriate action indicated by the nature of the target. (See Section VIII and VII).

SECTION X

COUNTER INTELLIGENCE

1. GENERAL: The surrender of Japan or a substantial part thereof will alter the general mission of Counter Intelligence operations. In addition to insuring military security by denying information to the enemy, Counter Intelligence personnel will be confronted with the problem of suppression of organizations, individuals and movements whose existence and continued activities are considered an impediment to the lasting peaceful reconstruction of Japan. The nation wide character of organizations and movements within this category, and the dislocation of population which may precede our occupation will necessitate coordination and control of Counter Intelligence activities by General Headquarters, USAFPAC.

2. Personality Cards containing names of persons constituting a menace to Allied security should be compiled from Counter Intelligence files, to be supplied to Armies. Counter Intelligence staffs in the field will seek out and arrest all persons in Annexes A, as qualified thereafter by CinC AFPAC, especially members of the KEMPEI TAI, TOKUMU KIKAN, KOKURYU KAI, NISSHO and other extremist societies; see also Section I, paragraph 4.

3. Internment camps, for apprehended persons, will be established in accordance with local requirements; the Intelligence control remains the responsibility of Intelligence staffs, to be allocated for this purpose by Commanders; armies will provide for interrogation facilities at Internment camps, as necessary; further particulars regarding interrogations are in Section VI.

4. Lists of Headquarters of KEMPEI TAI, TOKUMU KIKAN, the KOKURYU DAI and other extremist societies are being supplied to Armies, covering towns and districts on their axis of advance. Commanders will arrange for the seizure of such premises. All persons found therein will be detained pending the arrival of Counter Intelligence officers. All documents will be seized and preserved for expert examination. (See Section V; also Annex A of this Section).

ELIMINATION OF EXTREMIST SOCIETIES AND PREVENTION OF THEIR REBIRTH:

5. The KEMPEI TAI, TOKUMU KIKAN, the KOKURYU DAI, other extremist societies such as NISSHO, and all affiliates will be dissolved. See Annex A and B, this Section.

DISPOSAL OF THE JAPANESE GENERAL STAFF:

6. G-2 GHQ will collect lists of all officers of the General Staff, to be furnished Naval Commands, Armies and Air Staffs for co-ordinated action.

7. GHQ AFPAC will be responsible for the control and disposition of Japanese Imperial Headquarters. Army Commanders are charged with control and disposition of subordinate headquarters and echelons of command within their respective areas of responsibility. Certain elements of these headquarters and echelons of command will be retained in being for the period necessary to disarm and demobilize the Armed Forces of JAPAN.

8. All General Staff Officers who have not been taken into custody as Prisoners of War, Officers who have adverse records, or are on Counter Intelligence Personality Cards, or listed as War Criminals, and any officer who is regarded as potentially dangerous, will be detained. In cases of officers functioning in Headquarters temporarily retained in being as outlined above, they will retain such liberties as are essential to performance of their assigned duties, subject to surveillance arranged by Counter Intelligence in consultation with military authorities concerned.

PREVENTION OF JAPANESE ESPIONAGE, SABOTAGE AND SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES:

9. Normal Counter Intelligence activities against enemy espionage, sabotage and subversive activities will be continued vigorously and intensive security education programs will be instituted to alert the troops to the vigilance necessary while present in enemy territory. The employment by Japanese of foreign nationals for espionage must be balanced by an adequate counter-espionage service coordinated with the theater G-2 on matters of theater level interest.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF GHQ, AFPAC:

10. This Headquarters will be responsible for the following:
 - (i) Direction of Counter Intelligence policy in Japan.
 - (ii) The supply of all necessary Counter Intelligence information. In order to discharge this function, Counter Intelligence will undertake the maintenance of a central Card Index of suspect personalities. It will also maintain a central record of all persons arrested and their locations.
 - (iii) Establishment of a policy regarding disposal of arrested suspects.
 - (iv) The setting up of a joint C.I. and O.I. organization for interrogation. For particulars, see Section VI.
 - (v) Technical research on sabotage and advice concerning preventive measures.
 - (vi) Coordination of Counter - Espionage on Theater level.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF ARMIES:

11. Armies will be responsible for the following:
 - (i) Measures to implement the policy of GHQ.
 - (ii) Execution of Counter Intelligence measures in their respective areas.
 - (iii) Build-up and organization of Army and Corps (District) C.I. Staffs.
 - (iv) Organization of central registry and records system.
 - (v) Coordination of the interchange of information between subordinate units.
 - (vi) Report to GHQ.

NAVY AND AIR:

12. For particulars of Naval and Air Counter Intelligence, see Section VII and VIII respectively. These staffs will work in close cooperation with Army C.I. staffs.

TOP SECRET

ANNEX "B" SECTION X:

Offices and organizations which will be disbanded and cease to function at once, and in the case of which no problem of the disarmament and disbandment of para-military formations arises. Dissolution must cover all branch offices.

1. Political Association of Greater Japan (DAI NIPPON SEIJI KAI).

This Association extends through Regional Prefectural and City or County levels down to District Group or City Ward Branches and Neighborhood Associations. For the purposes of military government by means of Hoko it may be desirable to preserve the lower levels of the above organizations such as the District Group or City Ward Branches and Neighborhood Associations.

 - c. Science Mobilization Association.
 - d. All Japan Science League.

SECTION XI

CIVIL CENSORSHIP RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Effective censorship of civilian communications is dependent upon the centralization of the technical direction and control of censorship activities at the theater level. This control will be exercised with the primary objective of promoting military security and the peaceful future of the country and of detecting for action by appropriate agencies all activities running counter to these objectives. Since the national system of communication channels conforms to the pattern set by the physical facilities available to transmit, effective, economical censorship can be exercised only at the central points created by these physical facilities. These points may or may not coincide with those established for the purpose of effecting military government control.

2. The complication of the language problem in Japan and the paucity of linguists, require, at least initially, the compulsory use of English in communications.

3. Civil Censorship will be so conducted as to facilitate continuity of the large scale peaceful commerce required to maintain the flow of food supplies and materials for shelter to urban and other food deficient in war-ravaged areas.

4. Detailed Plan is in process of preparation to be issued later.

NAVAL CENSORSHIP:

5. Naval liaison Officers will be attached to GHQ AFPAC as arranged with CINCPAC, to coordinate Naval censorship with the general regulations laid down, and to provide Naval guidance where required for any civil censorship controlled by GHQ AFPAC.

SECTION XII

SIGNAL COMMUNICATIONS

WIRE AND CABLE SECURITY:

1. Immediately subsequent to the surrender of Japan, existing enemy wire and cable circuits, both civilian and military, will to the extent necessary, be placed under strict United States Military control and restricted to the passage of United Nations military, naval and air traffic except as hereafter indicated. These systems may be used for the passing of communications and messages originated by enemy nationals and the nationals of other countries upon approval of the United States Military and Naval censors only. An active surveillance will be conducted on the circuits authorized for such use for the purpose of detecting and preventing illicit transmissions.

2. The United States Army Commanders and the Commanding General, AFWESPAC, within their respective zones of action, are charged with the responsibility for the measures necessary to insure compliance with the instructions contained in Paragraph 1 immediately above.

RADIO SECURITY:

1. To the extent necessary, military, naval, air and civilian owned radio transmitting and receiving stations (except radio receivers used for the reception of voice broadcasts) of the enemy and of the nationals of other nations will be seized, placed under strict military control and reserved for use of the United States Armed Forces and the armed forces of friendly nations except when their use is authorized for other purposes by the United States Army Commanders and the Commanding General, AFWESPAC, within their respective zones of action.

2. Active radio surveillance will be conducted in all areas for the purpose of the detection, interception and location of radio stations conducting illicit transmissions. The traffic so intercepted will be analyzed and the intelligence derived therefrom submitted to the appropriate headquarters for the necessary action.

3. United States Army Commanders and the Commanding General, AFWESPAC, within their respective zones of action, are charged with the responsibility for the measures necessary to insure compliance with the instructions contained in Paragraphs 1 and 2 immediately above.

~~TOP SECRET~~

SECTION XIII

ECONOMIC, SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL INTELLIGENCE

1. The Japanese have made considerable progress in their industrial economy, science and technology since the beginning of the war. Their developments in these fields, particularly insofar as they have been adapted for war purposes, should be fully investigated and exploited.

2. The War Department will furnish a list of target objectives which are expected to be productive of intelligence of this nature. Responsibility for seizure of such objectives is defined in Section IV.

3. When exploitation of these objectives by experts dispatched by the War Department commences, the results acquired will fall into three broad categories:

(i) Documents: No document will be removed except under the procedure specified in Section V.

(ii) Materiel: This will normally be evacuated through established technical channels. It will not be taken out of Japan without the approval of the nearest appropriate technical intelligence staff and that staff will be responsible for forwarding this information through normal technical channels to GHQ AFPAC.

(iii) Reports of Experts: A copy of every report made will be sent to GHQ AFPAC together with all associated information obtained.

4. German Intelligence.

It is possible that intelligence may be available in Japan on German inventions, manpower, technical developments, economy, etc. Such information may prove valuable in the administration of occupied Germany and should be forwarded to the War Department through normal channels.

SECTION XIV

THE INTELLIGENCE ORGANIZATION IN TOKYO

1. TOKYO, the capital, is the intelligence nerve center for the entire Japanese Empire. While the city has undergone destructive fire and demolition raids, the preponderance of military and civil organizations in the urban area lend credence to the assumption that documents and other information of extreme importance to the US Government may still be recovered; "other information" refers to the interrogation of officials, who may be apprehended when the city is occupied.

2. An advanced echelon of G-2, AFPAC, and a Document Center (ATIS Advon) may be established in Tokyo to work with sections of Signal, Ordnance and Chemical Intelligence agencies.

3. Buildings housing the following organizations are believed to contain information which will be of immense assistance in the demobilization of the Japanese armed forces and the establishment of war crimes guilt:

Imperial Palace (Archives Section)
Imperial General Staff
War Department
Navy Department
Aviation Department
Military Police Headquarters
War College
Metropolitan Police Bureau
Foreign Office
Diet Building
Home Office
Communications Office

~~TOP SECRET~~

~~TOP SECRET~~

Inspectorate General of Military Training
Army Engineering School
Military and Naval Arsenals

4. The attention and Counter Intelligence personnel is invited to the possibility of depredations by fanatical members of organizations such as the Black Dragon Society, the Young Men's Association, Military Police, Junior Officers' League and the military Special Service Organization (Tokumu Kikan) which has functions similar to the former Gestapo.

PART II

Economic-Demographic-Geographical Situation.

1. Introduction:

The Commander of each occupied area will be faced not only with the problem of initial control of the Japanese Military Forces in his area, but essentially also of controlling and to some extent of maintaining the civil population. Therefore resources and installations, both military and civilian, are factors in planning and executing his occupation mission. Data with respect to the above factors are covered by the current Japanese Series of the A.G.S. Terrain Studies, Special Reports and Handbooks viz;

"BLACKLIST"

Basic Plan, Care and
Evacuation of Allied Prisoners
Of War and Civilian Internees

1. Mission:

To locate United Nations prisoners of war and internees (definition: Appendix 1) in areas within scope of "BLACKLIST" operations and to provide for them adequate food, shelter, clothing and medical care. To further provide for their registration and evacuation to rear areas. SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS
OF CINCPAC PLAN "CAMPUS" PERTAINING TO
NAVAL AND AMPHIBIOUS PHASES
"BLACKLIST" OPERATIONS.

I. TASKS OF NAVAL FORCES.

Conduct the amphibious phases and support thereafter the land phases of the occupation of strategic areas in JAPAN and KOREA.

Insure the clearance of mine fields.

Maintain lines of communications to the occupied areas.

Ensure the destruction or seizure of all elements of the enemy fleet.

Insure the surrender to Allied control of all enemy shipping.

Establish such naval and naval air facilities as are required for the support of the naval elements of the Occupation Forces.

II. CONCEPT OF OPERATIONS

1. Enemy Situation

Our operations in preparation for OLYMPIC will continue at an increasing rate to destroy the Japanese economic and industrial organization. Japanese shipping routes through the EAST CHINA SEA are closed. Restriction imposed upon sea communication between JAPAN and the mainland of ASIA by our surface, air, submarine, and mining operations will increase. In spite of impaired communications and heavy damage to the industrial system sustaining the major Japanese war effort there will remain, at the time of the capitulation, certain establishments which will probably be capable of supporting strong local assaults upon our Occupation Forces.

Surface forces of the Japanese Navy are no longer able to offer effective opposition, but some submarines remain capable of damaging surprise attacks.

Notwithstanding the weakness of Japanese air forces, we cannot disregard the possibility of air attacks, particularly suicide attacks, against us during the occupation.

Minefields impeding our free access to the SEA OF JAPAN and to Japanese harbors and coastal waters will remain in position at the time of the surrender. Coast and harbor defenses have until the present escaped destruction at our hands and may be capable of inflicting heavy losses upon our forces.

2. Own Situation

During the period prior to OLYMPIC and between OLYMPIC and CORONET, a large portion of our naval forces will be rehabilitating and preparing for succeeding operations. Most of the amphibious lift will be engaged in administrative troop and cargo movements, and many ships will be undergoing overhaul. It is anticipated, however, that forces and shipping can be assembled within a reasonable time to support the occupation of the areas of first strategic importance, and that the availability of shipping will progressively improve with the approach of the OLYMPIC target date.

Prior to and during OLYMPIC, fast carrier task forces will make attacks on the Japanese home islands and will be available at any time for operations incident to the occupation of JAPAN following unconditional surrender.

Units of the amphibious support forces will be engaged in exercising control of the seas, in minesweeping, and in providing security for elements so engaged. Allowing for these and other minor commitments, it will be possible to assemble sufficient amphibious support forces for the occupation without delay.

The critical feature involved in occupying Japanese territory prior to 1 September 1945 is the timely assembly of assault shipping at the mounting areas. It is estimated that by late August about three weeks will be required for the assembly of sufficient assault shipping in mounting areas to lift the number of divisions required for the minimum initial occupation. After 1 September 1945 no serious problem is presented as most units are scheduled to commence assembling in the mounting areas for OLYMPIC. By 22 September 1945 it is estimated that there will be sufficient assault shipping available in the mounting areas to lift thirteen reinforced combat divisions and by 1 October 1945 sufficient to lift fourteen divisions.

3. Operations

As long as the attitude of the Japanese is doubtful, dispositions, movements, and security precautions throughout the approach and occupation of each objective area will be as for an amphibious operation against an active enemy.

The planning and preparation for this operation during the period preceding 1 November 1945 will not be permitted to interfere with the preparations which must be made during that same period to insure the successful initiation and execution of the OLYMPIC operation. Neither will the planning and preparation during the period following OLYMPIC be permitted to interfere with the preparation necessary for the timely execution of the CORONET operation. It is therefore necessary that the planning and preparation for the occupation of strategic areas of JAPAN in the event of her sudden collapse or surrender be carefully integrated into the overall plans for the conquest of JAPAN.

The planning and execution will be coordinated with the Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific. Command responsibilities and command relationships will be as prescribed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The naval phases of the occupation will be conducted primarily by the THIRD and FIFTH Fleets. The forces in the PHILIPPINES will support the operation according to their resources and as the circumstances may indicate at the time. The THIRD Fleet will consist essentially of the fast carrier task groups; the FIFTH Fleet will include the amphibious, support, and mine forces. The coordination and overall control of all fleets and other naval forces will be exercised by the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Pacific Fleet.

After the surrender of JAPAN it is estimated that two to four weeks will be required to assemble assault shipping, mount troops, and move to the assigned areas.

~~TOP SECRET~~

Phases I, II and III - Occupation of JAPAN by U. S. Army Forces

During these phases of the operation, selected major strategic centers of JAPAN and KOREA will be occupied by U.S. Army Forces covered and supported as required by available naval forces.

The preparation and conduct of the operations will be decentralized to designated Army Commanders and corresponding Naval Task Force Commanders to the greatest extent consistent with essential coordination. Commanders, Sixth, Eighth, and Tenth Armies will be charged by CINCPAC with the coordination of planning of operations within their respective assigned areas of responsibility.

An Amphibious Force Commander will be designated to conduct the movement to the objective of the force assigned each army. Commander THIRD Amphibious Force will move the Eighth Army, Commander FIFTH Amphibious Force the Sixth Army and Commander SEVENTH Amphibious Force, the Tenth Army. The coordination and overall control of these amphibious forces will be exercised by Commander Amphibious Forces Pacific Fleet (COMPHIBSPAC).

In post-Phase I operations in JAPAN Proper and KOREA, Amphibious Force Commanders will arrange with the Army Commanders concerned for employment of short-range amphibious forces with appropriate support on a scale of one divisional lift per Army area as may be required for naval and amphibious phases of such operations.

III. NAVAL AIR FORCES

1. Forces Available

Four (4) or five (5) carrier task groups will be available for the support of the operation and can be deployed in a relatively short time. Similarly, four (4) divisions of CVE's will be available. Naval shore-based air forces probably available are listed below:

2. Operations

a. Carrier Forces

Fast Carriers

All fast carrier task groups will be assigned initially to the Third Fleet under the operational control of Commander THIRD Fleet. The fast carrier task force will provide general support for this operation.

Carrier-based aircraft will provide general support and cover, will conduct air strikes as may be required, will conduct reconnaissance and surveillance of objective areas and will maintain a show of force over these areas.

Escort Carriers

Escort carriers assigned to the occupation forces will provide air cover for the movement of these forces to the objective areas, and will provide direct air support if required.

Transport Carriers

Transport carriers will operate with the logistic support groups to provide replacement aircraft, parts, and pilots and aircrews. As required, they will transport garrison aircraft to the objective area.

b. Shore Based Air Forces

Fleet Air Wings

Fleet Air Wings will conduct extensive search and reconnaissance operations in the waters surrounding the Japanese home islands, including the INLAND SEA, and in waters adjacent to Japanese holdings on the Asiatic mainland.

~~TOP SECRET~~

If required, they will conduct overwater search and attack on minor enemy naval forces and shipping in conjunction with submarines and other naval forces.

COMMARIANAS will provide a streamlined advanced air base assembly for early movement to YOKOSUKA. COMAIRPAC will provide three advanced air base assemblies for employment in the vicinity of KURE, SASEBO, NAGASAKI and OMINATO. He will also augment the assembly at YOKOSUKA and replace personnel and equipment drawn from the MARIANAS.

Naval and Marine air units will be installed at the naval bases as follows:

YOKOSUKA	1 VMF Gp (including 1 VMF(N) Sq) 2 VPB (MS) Sqs (tender based initially) NATS Terminal
SASEBO-NAGASAKI (Site to be selected)	1 VMF Gp (including 1 VMF(N) Sq) 2 VPB(MS) Sqs (tender based) NATS Terminal
KURE	2 VMR Sq 1 VPB(MS) Sq (tender based) NATS Terminal
OMINATO	1 VPB(MS) Sq NATS Terminal

Seaplane search squadrons may be replaced by land plane squadrons if developments necessitate.

IV. NAVAL FORCES

1. Forces Available.

Fast carrier task groups, both American and British, are organized and will be prepared to provide general air support for these operations at any time.

Elements of the forces normally used in amphibious support will be engaged in upkeep, training and minor operations during August, September and October. No difficulty is anticipated in assembling a sufficient number of these forces for the operation.

~~TOP SECRET~~

Assault shipping during August will be actively engaged in administrative troop and cargo movements in the PACIFIC. This employment includes the SOUTH PACIFIC roll-up, amphibious training in the PHILIPPINES, roll-up of the SOUTHWEST PACIFIC rear areas, and forward lift from the West Coast into the PACIFIC OCEAN areas. The preponderance of available assault transports and cargo vessels will be operating in forward lifts from the West Coast. If CAMPUS is executed during this period it is anticipated that provisional transport squadrons will be organized from the available shipping. It is estimated that approximately two weeks will be required to assemble sufficient assault shipping in the Western Pacific to mount seven combat divisions during the period 1 - 15 August, eight combat divisions during the period 15-31 August, and nine combat divisions during the period 1-15 September. In September assault shipping will be proceeding to the mounting areas for OLYMPIC. Two squadrons are scheduled to assemble in the HAWAIIAN area by 2 September while the last squadrons are scheduled to be available in the PHILIPPINES by 20 September. It is estimated that sufficient assault shipping will be available to mount eleven combat divisions during the latter part of September. Fourteen transport squadrons will be operating continuously in the WESTERN PACIFIC from October through March and will be available on relatively short notice to mount Occupation Forces as required.

A schedule of assault shipping estimated to be available in the Eastern and Western Pacific areas follows:
